ERRATUM

The following heading and paragraph were inadvertently omitted from the Decision which issued February 18, 2008. The heading and paragraph should be added at both page 8, line 35, and again at page 14, line 13 of the Decision.

Jurisdiction and Labor Organization Status

Respondent is a California corporation with its headquarters and a facility located in San Diego, California, where it annually purchases and receives goods valued in excess of $50,000 directly from points outside the State of California and annually performs services valued in excess of $50,000 for the United States Navy. Respondent admits, and I find, that it has a substantial impact on the national defense of the United States. Respondent admits, and I find, that Respondent has been an employer engaged in commerce within the meaning of Section 2(2), (6), and (7) of the Act. Further, Respondent admits that the Union is the certified exclusive collective-bargaining representative of certain bargaining unit employees but denies that it is a labor organization within the meaning of Section 2(5) of the Act. Based upon the record before me, I find that the Union constitutes an organization in which employees participate and which exists for the purpose, in whole or in part, of dealing with employers concerning grievances, labor disputes, wages, rates of pay, hours of employment, or conditions of work. Thus, I find that the Union is a labor organization within the meaning of Section 2(5) of the Act.
